Julie McCrossin

Julie McCrossin is renowned across Australia for talking for a living.

She began working for the ABC in 1983 on the women's radio program "The Coming Out Show". She presented the radio show Life Matters on ABC Radio National for five years until 2005, covering countless health, welfare and educational topics with a frequent rural focus. She was also a team leader on the media quiz show "Good News Week" for five years on Network Ten and ABC TV. She has also worked as a children's entertainer on ABC TV's "Play School", a literacy teacher and community legal educator.

Currently Julie presents a travel program called Up and Away for Qantas in-flight entertainment on Radio Q, writes for the new ABC magazine Life Etc and facilitates conferences and training seminars nationally. For over 20 years she has hosted hundreds of public events. Julie has university qualifications in the arts, education and law and she is an ambassador for NAPCAN (The National Association for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect).

Julie McCrossin will draw on her remarkable skills to facilitate a panel discussion between four female local government CEOs to provide an insight into their career journey, the challenges they have faced getting to where they are today, their triumphs and involvement in local government.
